City council to meet Tuesday

ARTESIA -- The Artesia City Council will meet Tuesday with a light agenda.

No public hearings are scheduled, and no special items are included on the docket, with the exception of a request from Human Resources Director Jerry Conde for the approval of the Blue Cross Blue Shield health and benefits package for city employees.

The meeting is scheduled to begin at 5 p.m. Tuesday, April 25, in Council Chambers at City Hall.

USDA urges farmers, ranchers to complete 2022 Census of Agriculture

LAKEWOOD, Colo. - The U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) National Agricultural Statistics Service (NASS) is reminding Arizona, Colorado, Montana, New Mexico, Utah and Wyoming farmers and ranchers that the window is closing on the opportunity to participate in the 2022 Census of Agriculture.

The NASS is encouraging U.S. producers who have not returned their completed ag census questionnaires to do so as soon as possible to avoid additional mail, phone, email, text and in-person follow-up, which is currently underway.

"Thank you to the farmers and ranchers that have completed and returned their Census of Agriculture. The important data that is collected in the Ag Census provides a picture of the current state of agriculture and rural America and is used to make decisions that impact our communities and businesses," said Rodger Ott, Director, Mountain Regional Field Office. "By responding, Mountain Region ag producers make sure the best data is available for better decisions."

The NASS is reminding producers that if they produced and sold $1,000 or more of agricultural product in 2022, or normally would have produced and sold that much, they meet the USDA's definition of a farm. However, federal law requires everyone who received the 2022 Census of Agriculture questionnaire to complete and return it, even if they do not currently ...

State investigates more abuse, neglect claims

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — New Mexico officials identified on Friday dozens of cases of potential abuse and neglect after completing wellness checks on thousands of developmentally disabled people around the state.

The state Health Department announced that it has checked on all 6,815 clients receiving services through a waiver program. The wellness checks were prompted by abuse claims that were made public in March and resulted in the state terminating contracts with four providers in the Albuquerque area.

Democratic Gov. Michelle Lujan Grisham and top health officials had warned that any caregivers who mistreat and abuse developmentally dis-would be held accountable. Republican legislative leaders also requested that the federal government investigate, saying an independent inquiry would ensure transparency and might prompt the state to take necessary steps to prevent such cases in the fu-

State Health Secretary Patrick Allen said in a statement Friday that in-person visits to developmentally disabled clients over such a short period of time was "a huge and necessary undertaking." The visits identified a total of 111 sites with possible concerns. Every one of these incidents is being fully investigated, Allen said.

Home repairs and other environ-abled or otherwise vulnerable people mental concerns were found at 50 would cooperate with federal officials sites, while 61 site visits resulted in reports of potential abuse, neglect and exploitation.

The governor had announced in March that the state would be embarking on a forensic review of the entire Developmental Disabilities Waiver program, which is meant to offer an alternative to institutional care.

Critics have said the incidents of neglect and abuse seem to be related to system failures of various home and community-based programs that fall under the purview of the Develop-mental Disabilities Supports Division and Division of Health Improvement, which report to the Health Depart-should they choose to investigate and that the department has contracts with a law firm to recommend improvements in the system.

State officials said anyone found to be in an abusive situation or in danger of immediate harm would be removed and that referrals to law enforcement would be made as appropriate.

Allen said the state has responsibility to make sure developmentally disabled clients are being well cared for.

"Most (developmentally disabled) waiver providers do," he said. "Our job is to make sure that they all do."

Details on the case of abuse that triggered the in-person wellness checks still have not been made public.

NMSU gives AD extension despite basketball problems

By EDDIE PELLS AP National Writer

New Mexico State athletic director Mario Moccia signed a five-year contract extension earlier this month, on the same day his boss and a staunch defender, chancellor Dan Arvizu, stepped down nearly three months earlier than scheduled.

Moccia oversees a basketball program with former players who are suing the school's board of regents and two former coaches. The players claim administrators did nothing after they tried to tell them they had been sexually assaulted by teammates.

Both the AD and Arvizu signed the contract on April 7, the date Arvizu announced he would leave immediately instead of at the end of his contract on June 30.

The Las Cruces Sun-News acquired the contract, which calls for Moccia to get nearly a $72,000 raise from his current deal and make $351,800 in the first year of the new contract. His pay will escalate to $425,000 in the last year, which ends June 30, 2028. School spokesman Justin Bannister told KTSM-TV that the timing of the deal was a coincidence.

"It had been in the works for quite some time," Bannister said. "The timing just so happened to be on Arvizu's last day."

In a February news conference held after Arvizu canceled the Aggies' basketball season and fired coach Greg Heiar in the wake of hazing allegations — the details of which came out in the lawsuit filed earlier this week — the chancellor staunchly defended Moccia's performance in his eight years as AD at New Mexico State. And Moccia defended his record as athletic director, saying "I made a list of every coach I've hired ... and, you know, we have an excellent batting average. Nobody bats a thousand."

One of the allegations in the lawsuit was that one of the player's father tried to reach Moccia to discuss the alleged assaults, but the AD did not return the calls. That led to the player taking his story to campus police, NMSU staff member. He denied the affair.

The basketball program is also the subject of multiple investigations stemming from the fatal shooting of a University of New Mexico student by former player Mike Peake. Video of the shooting suggests Peake was acting in self-defense. He has not been charged. Police had to stop the team bus on Interstate 25 to question witnesses after the team left Albuquerque the morning after the shooting.

In a meeting late last year, the NMSU board of regents declined to renew Arvizu's contract, which was set to expire at the end of June. On April 7, he announced he was leaving early to allow the school to focus on a search for his replacement.

Arvizu had previously drawn concerns in the NMSU community after police body camera video came out from a dispute at his home. The chancellor was accused by his wife, Sheryl, of having an affair with a taking their second double in blue, the Lady 'Dogs fought their way through a close one in the opener, holding onto a 1-0 through the bulk of the contest before rounding out the final with a pair of insurance runs in the top of the seventh as freshman Kayden Apodaca tossed a seven-inning no-hitter.

But the Artesia girls would go on an offensive rampage in the afternoon outing, batting around in both their second and fourth trips to the plate for the 21-0, four-inning win.

"We thought they played really well," head coach Sandra Pulido said Saturday. "The first game, we didn't score very many runs. We were coming up out of our stance and kind of driving the ball up, and with the wind blowing, that didn't help.

"We just told them to go for hard ground balls, line drives -- put it in play and make them have to work behind their pitcher. And we had some shots where we got on, but when we had runners on base, that's when the ball went up."

After taking the game's inaugural run out of the top of the first on an RBI double by Perseis Aguilar that scored McKenna Morrison -- aboard with a leadoff walk -- Artesia would go on to leave eight runners stranded leading up to the seventh.

With starting pitcher Apodaca mowing down Lady Rocket batters, the one-run lead turned out to be enough. Goddard was able to get runners on base in five of their first six at-bats, but all reached on either errors or walks, and only one reached scoring position.

Morrison would lead off the top of the seventh with a double, however, and after advancing to third on a throwing error during a pick-off attempt, she'd make it 2-0 on a Haley Tucker single. Tucker then crossed on an Apodaca ground out, and a pair of strikeouts and a pop fly to catcher Perseis Aguilar in foul territory in the home half ended the game.

Lady Bulldogs 'Dogs go 2-1 with Lovington, will battle for title with Goddard

By BRIENNE GREEN Sports Editor

The Bulldog baseball team came out on top of their threegame series with Lovington Friday, setting the stage for a District 4-AAAA showdown with perennial rival Goddard.

The Artesia boys took Game One against the Wildcats Thursday at Brainard Park by a close final of 4-3 but saw the 'Cats turn the tables in Game Two Friday in Lovington, 7-6. The 'Dogs buckled down in the final bout, however, plating nine runs in the third and fourth innings en route to a 10-3 victory.

Artesia outhit the Wildcats in both outings Friday and had solid starting pitching over the two days from freshman Jack Byers, junior Nye Estrada and senior Davian Molina.

Estrada gave up just seven hits in the opener of Friday's double header, striking out eight, but Lovington was able to capitalize on five Bulldog errors to extend their second and third at-bats, in which they scored all seven of their runs.

"We just came out real flat in that first game, and they took advantage of it," said head coach JJ Ortiz.

Artesia had struck first in the game, taking a healthy 3-0 lead out of the top of the first on RBI singles by Byers and Julian Rodriguez and a throwing error. But the Wildcats took over in the bottom of the second, bringing four around on a single-turned-error, a passed ball, and a two-run homer from pitcher Ethan Gonzales.

The 'Cats then added what turned out to be a crucial trio more in the third on a singleturned-two-base-error and a Ryan Wieser RBI double.

The Bulldogs picked up their fourth run in the top of the fourth on back-to-back doubles by Diego Samora and Frankie Galindo, then made it a one-run game in the sixth on a two-run shot over the fence in right by Molina.

But a single up the middle by Samora in the seventh was surrounded by strikeouts to stymie the comeback effort in the 7-6

"I was happy with our guys for coming back and making it interesting, but we just didn't have enough," Ortiz said. "We wanted to see how they'd respond after that in the second game, and I thought we responded really well. We came out and jumped on a really good Lovington pitcher." After two scoreless innings as starter Molina duked it out with Wildcat senior Jonathan Aceves, the 'Dogs got their bats going in the top of the third, running the lineup and taking a 4-0 lead on an Estrada single to left, a wild pitch, and a two-RBI double off the center-field fence by Jesse Armendariz. Artesia made its lead more daunting in the fifth, batting around and tacking on five more with hlep from a Samora two-RBI double and back-to-back singles from Rodriguez and Armendariz.

The 'Cats got on the board in the home half of the fifth on a Cesar Salinas double and an RBI fielder's choice, but Artesia made it 10-2 in the top of six on an RBI infield single by Ethan Ramirez. Lovington rounded out the final in the bottom half on a bases-loaded walk.

"Davian pitched really well, and so did Diego Morales, coming in and finishing it off,' said Ortiz. "It was good to get both of them some work on the mound and for them to be suc-

That 4-2 lead would hold until the top of the sixth, when the Wildcats made it a one-run affair on a base hit up the middle from Luis Garcia. ### LeBron's Lakers beat Grizzlies to take 2-1 series lead sellout playoff crowd in a decade and immediately produced one of the greatest first quarters in team

Los Angeles leaped to a 35-9 lead amidst one raucous ovation after another from fans eager for a return to the Lakers' tradition of playoff success. After all those first-quarter fireworks, not even Ja Morant could carry the Memphis Grizzlies all the way back to prevent the Lakers from seizing Game 3.

Anthony Davis had 31 points and 17 rebounds, James finished with 25 points after Dillon Brooks was ejected for striking him in the groin, and Los Angeles survived Morant's 24-point fourth quarter to beat the Grizzlies 111-101 Saturday night for a 2-1 lead in their first-round playoff series.

Rui Hachimura scored 16 points in another strong effort off the bench for the seventh-seeded Lakers, who came out impressively in this long-awaited return to a true playoff atmosphere for a franchise with 17 titles. Los Angeles tied an NBA record by taking a 26-point lead into the second quarter, and Memphis couldn't get closer than 13 points until the final two minutes.

Brooks was ejected 17 seconds into the second half after the Memphis agitator struck James in the groin while guarding him near midcourt. While the top scorer in NBA history rolled on the court in pain, officials tossed Brooks after a brief video review — and James stood up and led the Lakers to victory. "I didn't make a statement," James said. "I've been doing this too long. I'm not making any state-

Apodaca finished with 11 strikeouts and two walks in the no-no, while Artesia was led at the plate by Tucker and Kadence Ray, both 2-4.

"We left quite a few runners on in that first game, but toward the end of it, we started putting the ball in play more so that [Goddard] actually had to work a little bit more, and we were able to score some runs there," said Pulido. "[Apodaca] also had a great game with a shutout no-hitter, so that was

The Artesia girls fared better offensively in Game Two, racking up 16 hits through four innings. "We talked to them before the second game and just told them to remember their plan, remember what you're looking for when you're at the plate," Pulido said. "And they were more disciplined at the plate, it seemed like, in that one. They were swinging at the pitches they wanted to swing at, not necessarily because they were behind in the count or they weren't sure where the strike zone was

The Lady Bulldogs went up 2-0 in the top of the first in the second contest on a passed ball and an RBI single to right by Ray before breaking the game open in the second.

Artesia plated 10 there while batting around, getting a two-RBI single from Tucker, a three-RBI triple from pitcher Makaylee Morillon, and a three-run homer to left from Ray in the process.

Two more Lady 'Dogs crossed in the third on Rocket errors, and Artesia put the 15-run rule in play in the fourth with seven more. a Morillon RBI triple, another two-RBI base knock from Tucker, consecutive doubles by Aguilar, Madison Martinez and Ray, and an RBI infield single by Elizabeth De La Riva all played a role in that inning.

Morillon came a pair of singles to center away from a no-hitter of her own over the course of four innings, striking out two and walking one. Ray finished 3-4 at the plate, a triple shy of the cycle with four runs batted in. Aguilar and De La Riva were also 3-4 with a double and one RBI apiece, Morillon went 2-2 with a pair of triples and four RBI, Tucker was 2-4 with four runs batted in, and Zowe Warren and Martinez both went 1-2.

"KJ hit a home run across the street, so that was exciting, and it was just good to see the way they were hitting and getting balls in the gaps, because Goddard has a good outfield," said Pulido. "Makaylee had two triples and did really well in the circle, too, with a shutout game.

"But most of all, they were having fun. They were cheering in the dugout, and we don't really hear that very often from this group; they'll encourage each other, but they're fairly quiet. But they were cheering and enjoying themselves, and that was also exciting to see. I really hope that carries over into Tuesday when we play Lovington and that they can stay up and feed off today's wins."

With the pair of wins, Artesia improved to 18-5 overall, 10-0 in district. They'll look to wrap up the district title at 5 and 7 p.m. Tuesday against the Wildcats at the Mack Chase Athletic Complex. Lovington (17-7, 8-2) swept Portales Saturday by finals of 11-1 and 14-1.

"These are our last district games of the season, so we want to finish strong and go out there and have fun," Pulido said. "We're just really proud of the girls and how they've been playing. We're starting to come together a little bit tighter, and that makes a big difference. That's what's going to take us into the state tournament and help us be successful."

The Lady Bulldogs will also be hosting their annual youth league event with teams from the Artesia Girls' Softball Association, and Artesians are encouraged to turn out in force to cheer them on as they vie for an unbeaten district championship.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — LeBron James and the Lakers came out in front of this franchise's first ments. We had the opportunity to come home and play well on our home floor, and we did that. No statement was made. We just wanted to play well, and we got a win. I don't need to make statements.' Game 4 is Monday night in Los Angeles.

Morant scored 45 points in his return from a one-game absence with a sore right hand, even scoring 22 consecutive points for the Grizz during his stunning fourth quarter while they attempted to rally from an early 29-point deficit. He wore a black brace and padding on his hand and appeared tentative early, but eventually found his usual unguardable form.

Morant also had 13 assists and nine rebounds, but second-seeded Memphis couldn't fully recover after the lowest-scoring first quarter in franchise history.

"I think we won by double digits in the last three quarters, so obviously that first quarter pretty much hurt us," Morant said. "(I) feel pretty good, man. Obviously some stuff you've just got to play through and tolerate. ... In that fourth quarter, I was just trying to win the game. Got it going pretty good, making shots, and just couldn't get it over that hump.'

With the Lakers' sellout crowd booing his every move, Brooks had just seven points on 3-for-13 shooting before his ejection. He drew the Lakers fans' ire for his behavior during and after Game 2, when the 27-year-old Brooks called the 38-year-old James "old" and belittled James' abilities.

Brooks declined to speak to reporters after the game. Memphis coach Taylor Jenkins only commented tersely on Brooks' ejection: "Officials made a call."

This rivalry stayed chippy in the third quarter, with Lakers forward Hachimura getting a technical foul for a furious reaction to a foul.

Aside from the physical play, the Lakers were in control of Game 3 until the Grizzlies made it mildly interesting late, never getting closer than nine points. "First quarter, I thought we were playing hard, (but) our offense significantly impacted our defensive ability," Jenkins said. "The way our guys fought for quarters 2, 3 and 4 showed a lot of great resiliency. We've got to learn to get better from this. Adversity is going to bring out the best in us."

Desmond Bane scored 18 points for the Grizzlies. Lakers fans ripped into Brooks in pregame warmups and each time he touched the ball before his ejection. More importantly, the Lakers played with a similar edge from the opening tip. The Grizzlies flailed offensively in the first quarter, going 3 for 25 with six turnovers. Brooks was particularly bad, missing 10 of his first 12 shots and making little impact on defense.

"I thought our crowd was phenomenal," Lakers coach Darvin Ham said. "Really felt them in the building. Thank God we gave them something to cheer about, the way we came out.'

TIP-INS Grizzlies: Brooks is the only player in franchise history to be ejected from multiple playoff games. He has been ejected six times in his six-year career, and he served two suspensions this season for an accumulation of technical fouls. ... Their nine points in the first quarter were the fewest scored by any NBA team in any quarter this season.

Lakers: D'Angelo Russell scored 17 points. He had a four-point play in the first quarter, the Lakers' first such play in a postseason game since Kobe Bryant did it in 2009. ... The 17-time NBA champions' last playoff game with a full crowd was in 2013. The Lakers missed the next six ensuing postseasons, and their 2020 championship run occurred in the Florida bubble. They hosted three first-round games in 2021 with a half-full arena due to COVID-19 restrictions.

Byers had six hits, one earned runs, and 10 Ks to his credit through five-and-two-thirds innings in the win, while Morales finished with no hits, no runs and two strikeouts. The Bulldogs took full advantage of their breaks offensively in the contest, as the team logged just one hit on the evening: a leadoff double from Galindo, who was left standing in the bottom of the fifth.

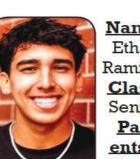

With the 2-1 finish, the 'Dogs did suffer their first district loss, moving to 13-10 overall, 5-1 in D4 play. But up the road in Roswell Thursday, the Portales Rams were hanging a 14-8 loss on the Goddard Rockets, meaning Goddard (15-8) will also enter this week's final series with a D4 mark of 5-1. "Portales kind of helped us out a little bit," said Ortiz. "We now we know we just have to win two out of three, and we're going to take it one game at a time and give Goddard our best." The winner-take-all series will open at 5 p.m. Thursday in Roswell before finishing up at 5 and 7 p.m. Friday at Brainard Park. The Bulldogs will host their annual Little League Night Friday, as well as recognize their seniors. "We talked about it a little bit after the Lovington game, and they know how important it is," said Ortiz. "So we're just going to come to practice ready and prepare to go up against a good Goddard

"We're hosting the double header Friday, so we also just want to encourage everyone to come out and support us.'

Today in History

By The Associated Press Today is Sunday, April 23, the 113th day of 2023. There are 252 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History: On April 23, 2005, the recently created video-sharing website YouTube uploaded its first clip, "Me at the Zoo," which showed YouTube co-founder Jawed Karim standing in front of an elephant enclosure at the San Diego Zoo.

On this date:

In 1616 (Old Style calendar), William Shakespeare died in Stratford-upon-Avon on what has traditionally been regarded as the 52nd anniversary of his birth in 1564.

In 1898, Spain declared war on the United States, which responded in kind two days later. In 1940, about 200 people died in the Rhythm Night Club Fire in Natchez, Mississippi.

In 1954, Hank Aaron of the Milwaukee Braves hit the first of his 755 major-league home runs in a game against the St. Louis Cardinals. (The Braves won, 7-5.)

In 1969, Sirhan Sirhan was sentenced to death for assassinating New York Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. (The sentence was later reduced to life imprisonment.)

In 1971, hundreds of Vietnam War veterans opposed to the conflict protested by tossing their medals and ribbons over a wire fence in front of the U.S. Capitol.

In 1988, a federal ban on smoking during domestic airline flights of two hours or less went into effect.

In 1992, McDonald's opened its first fast-food restaurant in the Chinese capital of Beijing.

In 1993, labor leader Cesar Chavez died in San Luis, Arizona, at age 66.

In 1998, James Earl Ray, who confessed to assassinating the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. and then insisted he'd been framed, died at a Nashville, Tennessee, hospital at age 70.

In 2007, Boris Yeltsin, Russia's first freely elected president, died in Moscow at age 76.

In 2020, at a White House briefing, President Donald Trump noted that researchers were looking at the effects of disinfectants on the coronavirus, and wondered aloud whether they could be injected into people.

Ten years ago: France legalized same-sex marriage after a wrenching national debate that exposed deep conservatism in the nation's heartland and triggered huge demonstrations. Mullah Omar, the reclusive leader of the Taliban in Afghanistan, died in a Pakistani hospital. (News of Omar's death would not reach the United States for more than two years.) A car bomb exploded outside the French Embassy in Tripoli, wounding three people and partially setting the building on

Five years ago: A man plowed a rental van into crowds of pedestrians in Toronto, killing 10 people and leaving 16 others hurt; police said the suspect, Alek Minassian, had posted a Facebook message indicating anger toward women. (Minassian is due to go to trial in February 2020.) French President Emmanuel Macron began a three-day state visit to Washington by visiting George Washington's Mount Vernon estate with his host, President Donald Trump, and their wives. The Duchess of Cambridge, formerly known as Kate Middleton, gave birth to a new prince who was fifth in line to the British throne; Louis Arthur Charles was the third child for the duchess and her husband, Prince William.

One year ago: Russian forces in Ukraine tried to storm a steel plant housing soldiers and civilians in the southern city of Mariupol while attempting to crush the last corner of resistance in a location of high symbolic and strategic value to Moscow. More than 100 people were killed in southeast Nigeria in an explosion that rocked an illegal oil refinery. A California man who was part of a child exploitation ring in which members filmed themselves sexually abusing more than 20 children and then distributed the footage on the dark web was sentenced to life in prison.

Time traveling, leaving hauntings

It was something about the curve of her cheek to her chin in the side-view mirrors. I mentally spoke to her: she could make the left turn through the light; she could trust herself. But I knew that hesitancy. It was hesitance that came from inexperience, but also knowing that the car she commanded wasn't very commanding. I've been her.

Living in the same college town in your late 30s where you spent your 20s can make you start to feel haunted by versions of yourself. One I saw coming around the drive-thru for Dunkin', a young woman — baggy jeans, an earth-colored tank top and unruly, short hair — leaned into the window, but no car. As I slowly pulled up, she looked out at me, turned and grinned into the window, and then jumped out of the lane, opening the door of her PT Cruiser that had dice in the

"An old and deeply uncool car," I told my mom in the passenger seat. "I remember that. And my dice. Just missing the wallet chain. I miss that wallet chain sometimes."

There was a bit of scoffing and a repeat of "uncool car?" reminding me the car was one I didn't purchase; I was just lucky that my father had decided to collect late 1980s Volvos, enough of them to rotate through when one in beige temporarily died and got swapped with a dark gray one. You could drive them like you stole them, but you still wouldn't be going

It's not just college-aged girls or underpowered cars that haunt me; it's sometimes the

My husband and I recently headed up the route I routinely took back home in college. When my parents' house sold, there wasn't a reason to go back. And still, I recalled the speed traps.

One of the small towns along the way is where I realized it had been so long since I had been through it that I was now a time traveler. I saw the town's effort to beautify the last stretch of road before it opened to mountainous tribal land. They had planted now-established trees in the median and expanded sidewalks. It was a change I could only see with my old, fresh eyes.

There'd be an assumption that these are ghosts of regret, but they're not. They are ghosts who are versions of me that led to who I am now. It's not just my college self spooking around the corners; it's the best and strongest parts of myself that remind me of what I can

It's driving that route with a car as old as me and no air conditioning during a Southwest summer, dumping bottles of water on my head and keeping the windows down. It's the parking lot where I nervously met my husband in person for the first time. It's the hospital where I summoned every ounce of fortitude to hobble, just stitched and deflating, behind my days-old newborn as we got into an ambulance. It's walking into class raw after losing my father to meet an incredibly kind, yet wary, professor who didn't understand why I was there. Where else would I be?

It's having lived here, having worked there. It's having shared a laugh there with someone no longer here.

I'm still haunting spaces, leaving ghosts for a future version of me. It's the kitchen table spot that's mine. It's becoming a regular. It's going to a new place, learning the year they opened, and thinking, 'that wasn't so long ago,' but back then, you didn't need their services. And here you are, sitting on bleachers watching a kid born that same year start their lessons.

The streets you travel now won't look the same in 20 years, in 50 years or in 100 years. But the spirit of who we were may still linger if we make peace with our brief dash through time, especially if we do our best in the time and places shared by those who may travel the same paths as us in the fu-

What else needs a baseball pitch clock?

My brother, the former Babe Ruth Leaguer, remains deeply skeptical of Major League Baseball's newly instituted pitch clock.

He is not alone in regarding the sport's leisurely pace as an integral part of its charm. But many analysts cheer any attempt to trim the bloated runtime of modern games.

"Field of Dreams" leaves older fans misty-eyed, but if you can erect a skyscraper on the field in the time it takes to play a double-header, "America's Pastime" is not going to hit a homerun with younger genera-

Have you ever wondered what other activities in life deserve a timeclock and a series of internationally recognized signals that someone needs to pick up the $\%^&* pace?

For starters, there are the raconteurs oblivious to their own snotty nose. They think you're hanging on their every word, but in fact you're more fascinated by what's hanging from their nostrils. After two minutes of patience, cut loose with a megapack of Kleenex fired from a T-shirt cannon.

ping excursions invite critique. ("Okay, I'll hold your purse another 20 minutes. After that, if you shop 'til you drop, I'm telling the buzzards, 'Cleanup on aisle 7!"")

In all fairness, interminable home-repair and automotive-repair projects need restrictions, too. ("One more weekend. Then you're sleeping in a van-up-onblocks down by the river.")

How about "will he or won't he?" political candidates who spend months holding their finger to the wind and dipping their toe in the water? Okay, the first dip is free, but after that we're putting piranhas in the pond, dude.

Let's not overlook insufferable nonentities basking in their "15 minutes of fame." Let's shut this down early. ("I know it has been only nine minutes, but as Alan Jackson sang, 'It's 15 minutes somewhere.")

What about family members who hover in front of an open refrigerator for what seems like an eternity? I know, they're just trying to decide what grub strikes their fancy. Okay, but after the lettuce starts to wilt, they should be more worried about what size boot is going to be striking their gluteus maximus. I propose zero tolerance for those recorded "Your business is very important to us" messages, as well as for restaurant the things you readers want to waitstaff who hog your time with endless focus-group-tested adjectives. ("Your thesaurus is very *snicker* important to us. I'm sorry but I can't do this without laughing. Just as you'll someday look back on your tip and laugh.") How about the clueless peo- him at tyreetyrades@aol.com.)

ple who run into old acquaintances and sprawl across the entire grocery aisle or five parking spaces for a traffic-stopping gabfest? You can arrange for professional crowd dispersal with just a few kind words. ("I'm so glad y'all are speaking to each other, considering what she's been saying all over town about your momma...")

Most ministers have already adapted to current attention spans, but many of you have encountered the kind who lose all track of time. Those clergymen can be conditioned to love their fellow humans more and the sound of their own voice less. ("You mean that was the collection plate I shot all to pieces, preacher? Sorry. I dreamed I was duck hunting. Better luck next week.")

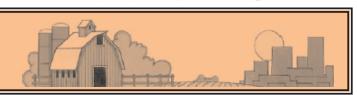

I would love to hear some of put a timer on.

Pay no attention to the mysterious voice whispering, "Submit it and he will plagiarize."

MFA launches new mortgage, down payment assistance

ALBUQUERQUE — To expand homeownership opportunities for low-and-moderate-income New Mexicans, the New Mexico Mortgage Finance Authority (MFA) recently launched HomeForward, a competitive-rate mortgage and down payment assistance program for first-time and non-first-time homebuyers.

The program offers both first mortgage loans and optional second mortgage loans that can provide up to 3 percent of the home sales price in down payment assistance.

"We know that finding affordable financing and saving money for a down payment can be barriers to homeownership, so this program helps address those needs," said MFA Executive Director/CEO Isidoro Hernandez. "This is another tool that more New Mexicans can use to help them achieve homeownership, which is the key to building wealth, stability and economic growth within communities."

The program can be used as a standalone first mortgage loan or can be combined with an optional second mortgage loan to provide down payment assistance of up to three percent of the home sales price. The down payment assistance loan, which can only be used for the down payment and not closing costs, typically amounts to a small monthly payment that is paid in addition to the homeowner's monthly mortgage payment.

Income and purchase price limits for the program vary by county, based on county median home price and median income. To qualify, homebuyers need to meet eligibility requirements for the program and then work with an MFA participating lender. A full list of participating lenders can be found at: housingnm.org/homebuyers/mfa-participating-lenders

Through the program, first mortgage loans combined with down payment assistance second mortgage loans can be used to finance any owner-occupied single-family property located within the state of New Mexico. Manufactured homes can also qualify for the program if they meet current Agency or Government-Sponsored Enterprise (GSE) guidelines for Federal Housing Administration (FHA), Fannie Mae (FNMA), Veterans Administration (VA), HUD Section 184, or the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA).

In 2022, MFA programs provided $430 million in affordable-rate mortgage loans and $15 million in down payment assistance to help more than 2,100 New Mexicans become homeowners. The widespread need for affordable housing in New Mexico was recently identified in a 2022 study commissioned by the MFA-led Housing New Mexico Advisory Committee that found 5,140 new single-family homes are needed every year to meet the growing demand for housing.

The program is funded by the New Mexico Housing Trust Fund. To date, MFA has leveraged 21-to-1 the approximately $61 million dollars the state has invested in the New Mexico Housing Trust Fund since it was created in 2005. This funding generated the development of 4,795 affordable housing units with an economic impact of $580 million across the state.

For more information about MFA's homeownership and down payment assistance programs, visit housingnm.org/homebuyers.

... meet this definition. Producers can respond online at agcounts. usda.gov or by mail.

"If you received the ag census but do not fit the definition of a farm, are no longer farming, never farmed, or are a landowner who leases your land to a producer, please write your status on the form and mail it back," said Ott.

The Census of Agriculture remains the only comprehensive and impartial source of agriculture data for every state and county in the nation. Census data are used by policymakers, trade associations, researchers, agribusinesses, educators, and many others. The information helps inform decisions on farm policy, rural development, the development of farm technologies, and more. It also aids in the creation and funding of loans and insurance programs and other forms of assistance.

The ag census differs from other NASS surveys. Beyond being conducted just once every five years, it provides important demographic information and data on certain commodities, such as horses, bison, and Christmas trees, that would not otherwise be available. The Census of Agriculture collects information on nearly every aspect of American agriculture for a complete picture of the health of the industry. Changes to the 2022 questionnaire include new questions about the use of precision agriculture, hemp production, hair sheep and updates to internet access questions.

Federal law under Title 7 USC 2204(g) Public Law 105-113 requires that the NASS keep all submissions confidential, use the information for statistical purposes only, and publish aggregate data to prevent disclosing the identity of any individual producer or farm operation.

The NASS will release the results of the ag census in early 2024. To learn more about the Census of Agriculture, visit nass.usda. gov/AgCensus. On the website, producers and other data users can access frequently asked questions, past ag census data, special study information, and more.

For state specific questions, contact your USDA NASS State Statistician at 1-800-392-3202: New Mexico – Margie Whitcotton.

Strategies to encourage kids to read more

Many adults feel there's no better way to relax than curling up with a good book. Though a relaxing afternoon of reading may appeal to adults, kids could prove a little more reluctant to crack a book. Children have much to gain from reading and being read to. According to the Children's Bureau of Southern California, a nonprofit organization devoted to strengthening vulnerable children, their families and the communities where they live, reading aloud to children supports their cognitive development; improves their language skills; prepares them for academic success; increases their discipline and ability to concentrate; and improves their imagination and creativity. Many of those same benefits apply to kids who read on their own, which may be more appealing as kids advance through elementary school and aspire to become more independent.

Since children have so much to gain from cuddling up with a good book, parents can try these strategies to encourage kids to read more.

Allow kids to read the same book. Parents of young readers or children learning to read undoubtedly know how much children like to read the same book over and over again. Though that might not engage moms and dads, experts note that allowing kids to read the same books again and again is an effective way to foster a love of reading in children. Researchers have linked reading the same books again and again to greater vocabulary acquisition and improved reading comprehension among other benefits. Kids are more likely to enjoy reading if they recognize more words and can better understand the stories, so parents can encourage kids to read the same books again and again.

Take a book along when running errands or traveling. The Children's Book Review notes that books can be just as handy in cars as tablets and other devices kids use to watch movies while on the go. Though some children may get car sick when reading while a car is in motion, those who don't have plenty of time to read while in the backseat. On long road trips, promise a movie after kids have read for an hour. When running errands with the kids in tow, encourage them to read by keeping a couple of books or magazines in the backseat at all times.

Practice positive reinforcement with emerging readers. Another way to encourage young readers to pick up a book more often is to praise their efforts even if they struggle with words. Patience can go a long way toward instilling a love of reading in children. If kids are struggling with a word or words, read the sentence aloud with them. Reading also has a tendency to pique readers curiosity, so parents can encourage kids to ask questions about the books they read and help them find answers to those questions if necessary.

Enroll kids in library reading programs. Summer reading programs sponsored by local libraries have been found to be conducive to promoting reading in young children. In its report titled The Role of Public Libraries in Children's Literacy Development, the Pennsylvania Library Association indicated that preschool and summer reading programs encourage children to spend significant amounts of time with books and also encourage parents to play a greater role in their children's literacy development. Participation in such programs is typically free of charge, so theres no reason why families cannot take advantage of these highly effective programs.

Reading benefits children in myriad ways. Parents can look to various strategies to foster a love of reading in their children.
